The Oak House is a striking, individual detached home, built in 2014, combining contemporary living with impressive eco credentials. Benefiting from an ground source heat pump, solar panels with battery storage, heat exchange unit, water softener, and underfloor heating across the ground floor, it delivers modern efficiency alongside thoughtful design. Constructed by North Somerset oak-frame specialists WestWind, the property showcases exceptional craftsmanship with exposed oak framing forming a defining feature throughout.

A welcoming entrance hall sets the tone, with double doors leading through into the impressive open plan living space. At its heart is a dramatic triple-height sitting room with wood burning stove and a mezzanine above, creating a superb sense of light and volume. To one side sits the bespoke kitchen by The Old Creamery, complete with a central island and designed as a true entertaining hub, flowing seamlessly into the dining and family area. Glazing and double doors open directly onto the garden, enhancing the connection between inside and out. The ground floor also includes a versatile snug or fourth bedroom, a contemporary shower room, and a practical utility/boot room.

Stairs from the sitting area rise to a first-floor mezzanine, offering flexible space ideal for a study or reading area. From here are three well-proportioned bedrooms, two with built-in wardrobes, alongside a modern family bathroom. The principal bedroom benefits from its own en-suite, while carefully positioned glazing throughout ensures natural light and countryside outlooks are ever present.

Externally, the property is approached via a gravelled driveway providing ample off-road parking. The rear south-facing garden has been beautifully landscaped, featuring a paved terrace for al fresco dining, level lawns, established planting and a central pathway leading to a workshop and a peaceful seating area at the far end, perfectly positioned to enjoy open countryside views.

“The Oak House sits within the sought-after village of Kenn, offering a rare combination of striking oak-frame architecture, energy-efficient design and beautifully balanced family living spaces, all set against a backdrop of open North Somerset countryside.”
