Tucked away in a beautiful wooded valley, this converted Chapel lies in a small rural hamlet near Tiverton. Offered with No Onward Chain.

Council Tax Band: D

Occupying a slightly elevated position, The Chapel House commands a wonderful outlook across the surrounding Mid Devon countryside. Built in 1883 and converted into a dwelling in 1959, this unique detached home retains a strong sense of character and provides a peaceful, private setting near Templeton Bridge.

The grounds extend to approximately a quarter of an acre and slope gently down toward a tributary of the River Dart. This stream-bordered boundary creates an exceptional haven for local wildlife, with otters regularly spotted along the watercourse.

An additional parcel of land acquired by the current owners extends the garden further. This extra plot includes the footprint of a former stable once used for the preacher's horse, which now serves as an additional parking space. Positioned just above the house is a further garden area offering an ideal spot for a home studio or summer house.

The primary everyday entrance is via the kitchen door leading from the driveway. The kitchen-dining room is fitted with a generous range of storage units and work surfaces, with ample space to accommodate a table for four or more. An inner lobby features stairs rising to the first floor alongside a useful under-stair storage cupboard.

The sitting room centers around a large wood-burning stove and opens directly into the conservatory, providing a tranquil space to enjoy the afternoon and evening sun with a lovely rural outlook. Converted from the rear half of the garage just off the conservatory is a convenient ground-floor shower room, ideal for guests or family.

Upstairs, the first floor hosts three double bedrooms, all served by a family bathroom.
